Long-Sought Woman Main-

In Court

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—In a brief and speedy hearing, tight-lipped Mrs. Rose Carina, "kiss of death woman," arrested by G-men in connection with Philadelphia's macabre insurance murder case, today was held without bail for the Grand Jury.

Brought in by Philadelphia detectives, to whom she was turned over by Philadelphia agents, after being apprehended in New York, the long-sought widow maintained a stony silence as she heard herself ordered to jail by Judge Harry S. McDevitt.

Four other figures in the fantastic mass murder plot—believed responsible for the death of 100 heavily-insured victims—were held for further hearing, immediately followed Mrs. Carina's appearance.

The latter included Antonio Mastro, "Continued on Page Four"

Question and Answer Program Is Given

Definitions of terms for forms of government, in their true and academic meaning, were given yesterday afternoon in a question and answer program at the regular weekly meeting of the Rotary Club at the Elks home here.

Two members of the Morrisville club, the Rev. Clifford Pollock and Charles Boehm, assistant superintendent of Bucks County public schools presented the program. The Rev. Pollock asked the questions and the answers were given by Boehm.

The Rev. Pollock stated that at the present time the man on the street reacts with highly imaginative pictures when certain terms of government are mentioned. This has been due to mis-use of these terms by speakers, the press, and other sources according to the Rev. Pollock.

Boehm pre-viewed his answers by stating that he was neither defending nor upholding any particular views or terms, but was merely giving the accepted academic definitions of them.

In answer to the question of "what is a democracy," Boehm stated: "A democracy is a pure government by the people or masses. It is considered sacred in this country. The real, true democracy existed in some New England towns and certain cantons in Switzerland. The people themselves made all decisions.

American ideals were explained as "the American way, as originally expressed in the Bill of Rights, the Declaration of Independence and the Preamble to the Constitution."

The answer to the question, "Do we have freedom of speech?" was answered in the negative, the speaker pointing out that in times of war the rights of assembly, free speech, and rights of worship are abolished. This condition is true when martial law is established, according to Boehm.

Asked to distinguish between the British and American forms of government Mr. Boehm answered that the British Parliamentary type of government is more responsive to the whims of the people than the American where a system of checks and balances is used.

"Judges, Kings and Ministers all come second to the Parliament in British rule. At the present time the House of Commons, elected by the masses, is the real representative of the people."

In France, Boehm pointed out, there are departments similar to those of our State, but the head of the department is responsible to the head of the government in Paris.

Questioned by the Rev. Pollock on Communism, Boehm declared that communism existed centuries and centuries ago when tribes lived together, without any distinction. The true example of this was said to be the American Indian, where everything was common property of the tribe.

"What is really condemned in Communism," Boehm declared, "is the proletarian system of the Bolsheviks." "Russia plans to do away with all other forms of government throughout the world. But Russia is fast returning to State Socialism."

The program of the two Morrisville Rotarians was enjoyed by the Bristol Club. Lester D. Thorne, president of the Bristol unit, was in charge of the meeting.

Announcement was made that a meeting of the Club Assembly will be held Monday evening at the home of the president at 8.30.

The meeting next week of the Bristol group will be held at 12.15 in the Presbyterian Church.

CROYDON FIREMEN TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Living Charter Members Will Be Guests of Honor at
The Affair

TO BE HELD SAT. EV'NG

The charter members of Croydon Fire Company who are living will be guests of honor at the 25th anniversary celebration of the Company which is to take place tomorrow evening. An extensive program is being arranged and the occasion is to be fittingly celebrated. There will be a banquet served in the Can't-Take-It Club, Logan avenue and State Road. It will be served by the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Company.

The charter members of the Company were Linford Morgan, Sr., Linford Morgan, Jr., Thomas Roberts, Harry Gleason, Charles Poebbles, Matthew Galbreth, Otto Grupp, Sr., Robert Sanderson and William Black.

Application for the charter was made May 14, 1923, but the company had been rendering service since 1914.

The speakers will be William L. Stackhouse, former Bucks County fire marshal but who is now sheriff of Bucks County, and the Rev. Arthur F. Gibson, chaplain of the Bucks County Firemen's Association.

The Croydon Fire Company had a humble beginning back in 1914 and was really a development of the Croydon Improvement Association. It started in Tryon's Hall and later moved into its present location, the building being constructed to a great extent by volunteer help in 1917.

There were then about 25 members. There are now 150 members who pay their dues and about 50 of these are active.

Linford Morgan, Jr., is the chief, having succeeded his father who was the first chief of the company and who served until his death.

The Company now has three pieces of apparatus consisting of a U. S. pumper, Diamond T truck and a Ford chemical tank. In addition to this there is a row boat mounted on a wheel truck which the company uses in connection with the Bucks County Rescue Squad in cases of drowning.

Following the banquet tomorrow night there will be a program of entertainment given by a group and music will be furnished by the Croydon string band.

The Ladies Auxiliary has 52 members listed and is a very active organization.

The committee arranging the details for the celebration is composed of the following:

Charles Koons, William Smith, Leonard Morgan, Harry Beck, Fred Kutzer, John Bowen, Hayden Thompson, Harry Barth, Charles Brady, chairman.

Do You Need A Barber?

(By "The Stroller")

There are 25 barber shops in Bristol I am told.

Now with all these tonsorial artists waiting to give you a shave, cut your hair or give you a massage, there is certainly little reason for one to go about town in an unkempt manner.

With so many barbers about there is naturally keen competition and prices are cut. An effort is being made to organize the trade but like all other such efforts it is meeting with difficulty.

The same condition is found in an endeavor to regulate hours and standardize the hours for the opening and closing of the shops. There are still a few I am told who do a little business on the side on Sundays in their own homes. It is so with all trades.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

Slightly over $1,000 has been canvassed in the annual Community Nursing Drive at Morrisville, according to Mrs. Frank B. Stockham, president of the Red Cross, in her report at a meeting in the Community House.

The heavy relief in food and coal the past few months will make all captains work harder to complete the goal of $1,600. Nearly everyone and all businesses have been contacted with a few exceptions. These will again be canvassed and hopes are high to raise the needed $600.

Mrs. Stockham has received an invitation from Harry Lair, American Legion commander of the Willet C. Sanford Post, No. 433, to have the Red Cross participate in the Memorial Day celebration in Morrisville on May 30th.

The report of Community Nurse, Miss Laura Koch, for April, shows a total of 107 visits to 51 patients. One parental visit was made to a new patient and two post natal visits and two new-born baby visits were made. Forty-five visits were made to other patients and two to syphilitic cases. Other visits included 16 for child health supervision, nine to schools or homes of children, 29 for adult health supervision and general activity besides 34 other interviews, phone calls, etc. One social service request was referred to the Home Service visitor.

Mrs. Helen Satterthwaite, Home Service visitor, reported on her work in Morrisville during the past month. She made 30 visits to assist with family problems.

One-way traffic on State street in Doylestown with parking on both sides with a two-hour limit, two-hour parking on both sides of East Court street between Monument Square and Broad street, two-hour parking on one side of Pine street and a proposed two-hour parking on both sides of Oakland avenue, with a strict enforcement of all traffic laws and regulations within the borough limits of Doylestown.

That is the new set-up that is being worked out by Doylestown's police committee, to be submitted at the June meeting of Borough Council for final action. This is to be done by the revision of the present ordinance now in its second reading, regulating traffic on State street only. The ordinance will be changed to take in the Court and Pine streets and Oakland avenue regulations.

The final meeting of the season was held by the Langhorne-Middletown P. T. A. A feature was the exhibitions of the various grade school rooms.

The high school chorus, under the direction of Charles Shane, rendered several numbers. The string ensemble, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haimbach, and the Misses Emily and Elizabeth Comfort, played several selections.

The new officers installed follow: Mrs. Edgar Frutchey, president; Mrs. James, vice-president; Mrs. Phillip Lewis, secretary, and Mrs. Howard Ott, treasurer. The president announced Mrs. James as chairman of program committee; Mrs. Joseph.

TWO MORE PLAYWRIGHTS PURCHASE HOMES IN CO.

John Monk, Jr., and Fred F. Finkelhoffe Buy Farms In Springtown Section

150 WRITERS IN COLONY

DOYLESTOWN, May 19.—Deeds recorded in the office of the Bucks County Recorder show that two more playwrights, John Monk, Jr., and Fred F. Finkelhoffe, collaborating team, who wrote the military school hit play, "Brother Rat," have bought farms in the Springtown section of Bucks county.

About 150 writers, representing every classification, compose Bucks county's literary colony now. They include novelists, short story writers, poets, mystery story, children's and moving picture scenario writers, humorists, columnists, playwrights, biographers and historians.

John Monk, Jr., has purchased a 112-acre farm, from Cecile Iversen Silberkraus, in Springfield township. Fred F. Finkelhoffe has purchased a 72-acre farm from John Stanislaw. This collaborating team crashed into fame when their comedy, "Brother Rat," written about their undergraduate days at Virginia Military Institute, became one of the hits of the Broadway season and hung up records for road tours. Their farms are near that of Jack Kirkland, scenario writer and playwright, who adapted Erskine Caldwell's "Tobacco Road," and Haila Stoddard, his actress wife.

Outstanding among the columnist-residents of Bucks county are Pearl S. Buck, Dorothy Parker, George S. and Beatrice Kaufman, Moss Hart, Bella and Sam Spewack and S. J. Perelman.

Another outstanding resident is Mrs. Josephine Herbst, who lives near Erwinna and has written such novels as "Nothing Is Sacred," "Pity Is Not Enough" and "Rope of Gold." She has lived in the county longer than any of the others.

PAST WEEK BUSY ONE FOR MEMBERS OF LEGISLATURE

Some Took Time, However,
For a Picnic Given by The Speaker of The House

AT WORLDS FAIR TODAY

Special to Courier

HARRISBURG, May 19.—Although the Session of the General Assembly is nearing adjournment, and the members of both the Senate and the House are extremely busy pushing through for passage all important legislation, this week is one of rather mild relaxation for the members and officers of the Assembly. On Wednesday, the House picnic, given by the Speaker of the House, Ellwood J. Turner, was held at the Blue Ridge Country Club, for all members, officers, and employees of the House of Representatives. The guests enjoyed participation in golf, quoits, mush-ball, cards, and other mild forms of relaxation, suitable for those who have had very strenuous hours of legislation in back of them, and many hours still ahead of them. The members gave up all serious thought for the afternoon, having enjoyed themselves immensely in the various means of exercise, and then partook of a very delicious picnic supper.

Today, the members of the General Assembly, their families, friends, and the employees, together with the Governor and his official family and their friends, left the Capitol for New York, to open officially the Pennsylvania Building and Exhibit at the New York World's Fair.

Taxes And The Treasury

Washington, May 18.

SO far as taxes are concerned the situation at this session can be summed up as follows—tax revision to remove the paralytic taxes so overwhelmingly regarded as a handicap to business recovery will have to be accomplished, if at all, without Mr. Roosevelt.

THAT neither leadership nor support will come from him has been made perfectly plain. The best that can be expected is a sullen acquiescence such as was given a year ago when Congress modified the unworkable undivided profit tax. In that case the President indicated his displeasure by letting the bill become a law without his

TELLS HOW TO DEVELOP A DESIRED POPULARITY

Mrs. Helen Hall, George
School, Addresses Mothers
and Daughters

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

In festive mood, 182 gathered about banquet tables in Bristol Presbyterian Church, last evening, the gala occasion being the annual mother and daughter banquet, sponsored by the Alpha Bible Class and the Ladies' Bible Class.

Augmenting the tempting menu which satisfied the inner-being, there was presented a program of music, a delightful address by Mrs. Helen Hall, Swarthmore, dean of girls at George School, Newtown; brief accounts of activities and accomplishments of the year just passed by representatives of women's and young people's organizations allied with the church.

Occupying the chair of the toast-mistress on this occasion was Miss Caroline Black, president and teacher of the Ladies' Bible Class. Miss Black, who was presented to the group filling the banquet hall by Mrs. George Bruden, announced the several program numbers, and presented the speaker of the evening.

"Popularity" was the subject which Mrs. Hall chose for her helpful address, she giving at the outset examples of desirable and undesirable types of popularity. "Popularity doesn't always mean the thing we see on the surface, but true popularity which is the outgrowth of interest in and helpfulness to others, is the kind worth-while. Now what are we going to do to develop a real popularity?" she asked as the continued to outline three essentials that are all-inclusive for the desired type of popularity. These were designated as honesty, warm-heartedness, and a sense of humor.

Regarding honesty this one who has been so closely associated with present-day students queried: "Are you honest in facing yourself, in facing life and other people? Are you the same to everybody, or do you try for the popularity that is not the right kind? Have you sincerity and honesty of purpose? Honesty of purpose is something you cannot fake. A deep sincerity must be in you—then popularity is within your grasp."

Speaking of warm-heartedness, Mrs. Hall continued by saying "In order to have it we have to like people. How can we really like people? By thinking of the good in each person we know! . . . No person can make you happy. Happiness is within yourself, and you can be happy yourself when you try to make someone else happy. If you for-

ARGUE WARBURTON CASE IN COURT; MUCH CONTROVERSY

Property Has Been in Continuous
Litigation Since Barclay
H. Warburton, Jr., Died

FATALLY INJURED IN '36

Charges Defense in Case is Based on Hatred Alone
For Young Widow

DOYLESTOWN, May 19.—Argument took place in the Court of Common Pleas of Bucks County yesterday in the case of Evelyn Hall Warburton, administratrix of the estate of her husband, Barclay H. Warburton, Jr., deceased, against Mrs. Mary B. Warburton and Major Barclay H. Warburton, Sr., the defendants.

The plaintiff's husband, Barclay (Buzz) Warburton, grandson of the late John Wannamaker, was fatally injured in a gunning accident on Thanksgiving Day, 1936, at Saracen Farm, Doylestown township, the junior Warburton's home.

Since his death, the Warburton property in Doylestown Township has been in continuous litigation in the Bucks county courts. Major Warburton, one of the defendants, whose home is in Jenkintown, is also Mayor of Palm Beach, Florida.

The plaintiff's request for findings of fact and conclusions of law were presented before President Judge Hiram H. Kaller and Calvin S. Boyer, sitting in equity, by Maurice J. Spicer, well-known Philadelphia attorney and counsel for Warburton's widow and her two children, Barclay H. Warburton, 2d, and Rosemary. Wynne James, Jr., Doylestown attorney, is associated with Spicer.

The defendant's request for findings of fact is being presented by Webster S. Achey, Doylestown, attorney for Major Warburton and his wife.

"I do know that the plaintiff in this case is not an adventures," declared Attorney Spicer to the Court this morning, and then added, "and I believe the defense in this case is based on hatred alone for young Warburton's widow."

The plaintiff contends that the defendants are bound to pay the estate of Barclay H. Warburton, Jr., deceased, the sum of $10,145.47, which sum represents the expenditure made by the decedent for repairs, alterations and improvements to Saracen Farm, and that the defendants should convey the farm to some person or financial institution in trust, in accordance with

Exchange Club Members View Numerous Paintings

The Delaware Valley as a hunting ground for artists was the subject of a talk last night before the Bristol Exchange Club by Julius G. Sommer. Some twenty pictures painted in the valley were on exhibition.

Mr. Sommer has been specializing in late years on industrial scenes. Of particular interest were the pictures of the Warner Stand & Gravel Company's operations near Morrisville. Prosaic to the eyes of those who pass them frequently, the huge pits, conveyors, elevators and concrete mixers take on real beauty and life when transferred to paper by an artist. The drawing was accurate and vivid, and in most cases the coloring was natural and conservative.

THE POSTMAN WINS

In Michigan hereafter, by act of the Legislature, a man may figuratively bite a dog. It is good news to the battered boys in gray that a postman beset on his rounds by dogs may sue the owners thereof for damages to his person or attire. There has been a great deal of this, it seems. In the average year, 200 letter-carriers have had their shins or trousers lacerated in line of duty by the underdisciplined or overzealous canine.

The problem has been an old and delicate one and not confined to carriers of the mail, or to the state of Michigan. Those who would deal with or even discuss it have found it fraught with peril. A Mr.
Salsinger, some years back, published the claim of a Kentucky doctor to great skill in the art of quick-kicking dogs that leaped at him from mountain cabins to which he had been called. Written gravely, but with the tongue in the cheek, it precipitated an avalanche of mail from outraged lovers of our dumb but sometimes dangerous friends. Dr.
Hertzler, of "Horse and Buggy Doctor" fame, tells of shooting the more sinister animals, that infested his country route. No doubt he, too, has felt the slings and arrows
of the defenders of any dog, however fierce.

In time, perhaps, the new statute
may be stretched to lend protection to other hapless citizens whose tasks require that they meet the dog on its own ground. Meanwhile the tradition of the sanctity of the mail makes it entirely fitting that its long-suffering bearer be first to benefit. It is hoped and assumed, of course, that the law has teeth as long and sharp as the dogs it affects.

CELEBRATIONS IN JOB LOTS

There are times when anyone who kills only two birds with one stone is a piker. Glancing over the special days and weeks to be celebrated in the near future, an editorial writer is aghast. Who can cavil if he drops his rifle and reads
for a repeating shotgun?

Here is a partial list: Nation's Foreign Trade Week, May 21-27;
National Cotton Week, May 22-27;
Carbonated Beverage Week, May 22-29; Foot Comfort Week, June
10-17; National Hotel Week, June 11-17; Father's Day, June 18; National Swim for Health Week, June 26-July 1. And this is omitting such anniversaries as Memorial Day and the Fourth of July!

Let us dispose of this list by bull.
Remember that cleanliness is next to Godliness; reveal the Fifth Commandment; keep on the alkaline side; silk worms are economic slaves anyway; what helps business helps you; keep your dogs fit; even raven keepers must live.

If there is any free advertising in the above it is purely fortuitous.

History tells of many a stout fellow who single-handed held a bridge or mountain pass against the enemy host. We don't know so much about corridors.

The newspaper still has one advantage. You needn't sit by it all day to get the news one bite at a time.

Dumb animals are the ones that don't wonder dismally when their leaders will make them go to war
again.

The Great Game of Politics

impression that their ideas were in accord with those of the President.

FOR the latter's attitude but two explanations have been advanced, neither of them very pretty. One is that to agree to the Morgenthau-Hanes proposals, essentially the same as Senator Harrison's, involves admission that the New Deal tax bill of two years ago was a mistake. It means retreating from a position and retracting
some of his words. Apparently Mr.
Roosevelt cannot bring himself to do that. Rather than do that he is willing to humiliate the Messrs.
Morgenthau and Hanes and leave Congress without any recommendation whatever upon so vital a matter as taxation. The other explanation is that the radical economists of the White House "inner circle," who are against any concessions to business, have more influence with Mr. Roosevelt than his Treasury aides.

COMBINED, these two explanations account for the President's wavering unreasonableness in this business. After having, through his Treasury aides with whom he was in closest touch, aroused expectations that the Administration would submit to Congress a comprehensive tax revision plan, he now, in effect, says to Congress and his Treasury aides—"I won't take what you propose and I haven't anything of my own to propose." To that the Treasury aides have said nothing, but Senator Harrison, in effect, replied,

"Well, Mr. President, we will try to put through what we think right, with or without you."

OF COURSE, an effort is being made to save the faces of the Messrs. Morgenthau and Hanes and enable them to hold on to their jobs without seeming too ignominious and servile. The President talks suavely at press conferences about the tax situation, expressing the hope that "something can be worked out." He confers with legislative leaders and the Treasury aides. But it does not fool anyone much. The fact remains that Mr.
Morgenthau and Mr. Hanes have been let down by their revered chief with a heavy thud and in a public manner. After months of working with what they thought was White House approval, the product of their labor is thrown out the window and they are informed their views have no White House support. While they may express them if they like they are told they will not be speaking for the Administration. No amount of conferences and camouflage can alter the fact that a practical repudiation has taken place.

WHEN this first happened it was natural there should be some expectation that the resignations of the Messrs. Morgenthau and Hanes would follow. If this is all their work amounts to there seems no sense in staying, because it is difficult to believe that their thoughts or words on fiscal matters will again be taken seriously.
Particularly is this so when it is recalled that Mr. Morgenthau has been quoted as saying in regard to his plan that "this time the flag is nailed to the mast." Well, so far as he is concerned, the flag has fluttered to the ground and the notion that he will retire can be dismissed. As for Mr. Hanes, newspapermen still call him up and ask if he is going to resign and he replies in pained tones that he is not thinking of doing so. But he might as well, as he is definitely—and probably permanently—in the doghouse.

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

Two new features are now added to individual private passenger automobile policies, at no extra cost.
The one is a 15% award to the policy-holder where the person covered by the policy has had no accident during the policy period. The other feature is a drive
other car endorsement, which gives the policy-holder, or wife or husband, the same protection which the policy grants the policy-holder when he drives his own car, also applies if the policy-holder, or wife or husband of the insured, is driving a private passenger car owned by some other person. This indeed is good news to the automobile owner when made by one of Pennsylvania's strongest Mutuals, which gives its policy-holders the complete protection for which this Company is justly famed, and when sold to you at no extra cost to the already low premium charged for the policy.

Sixty Attend Banquet of Choir; Organist is Honored

Sixty members and friends of the choir of First Baptist Church journeyed to Fischer's, near Washington Crossing, N. J., last evening, for the annual banquet of the choir.

A dinner consisting of fruit cup, roast duck, mashed potatoes, corn, shoe-string beans, hot rolls, coffee and fresh strawberry sundaes was partaken of.

The tables were decorated with cut flowers, and favors were individual blue glass vases filled with lilies-of-the-valley and pansies.

During the dinner Miss Winifred Tracy, choir leader presented a birthday gift, on behalf of the choir, to Miss Rae Vandegrift, organist of the church, whose birthday occurred yesterday. Others who were congratulated on having birthdays this week were: George Romig, Russell Arrison, Fred Wise and the Rev. Howard L. Zepp.

Mrs. Edna Klaiber, president of the choir, gave a brief address.

Gilbert Lovett was master of ceremonies, and presented a delightful program. He read a humorous poem which he composed about each member of the choir. Selections of the evening also included: Vocal duet, Gladys Weik and Ruth Weik; original monologue, Miss Kathryn Quinn; solo dance, Miss Winifred Tracy; baritone solo, Jacob Davis, Wilkes-Barre; whistling solo, Mrs. Russell Arrison; Spring Song dance, William Marshall; Silvio Clotti played the accordion throughout the evening.

Group singing, and group dancing, and a grand march were enjoyed by all.

MAKE BOOKS PART OF THE DECORATIONS IN SOME OF ROOMS

By Miss Edna Stephany

(Home Economics Representative)
Books are something to read and most of us buy them for that purpose. Books also make interesting decorations, for their covers and bindings come in a variety of colors and textures.

Whether we have books for what is in them or as a hobby, let them be decorative as well as entertaining.

Books add color and interest to a table decoration. The bindings may be just the color note required. End tables with books or magazines make the sofa or chair more inviting. Books or magazines on the bedside table in the guest room with good light for reading help to make a guest comfortable.

Since tables will not provide sufficient space for all the books in most homes, we must have cases or shelves. Most rooms have space for a bookcase of some kind.

Inexpensive bookcases may be built at home from lumber in the store room. These cases may be finished to harmonize with the woodwork or the wall paper. Adjustable shelves are a convenience, for when accessories are used they may require more space between the shelves than the height of the books.

There are usually several places where wall cases are possible. Some member of the family can build these. Where there are low windows, cases may extend under them with a small higher one at each end beyond the windows. Often bookcases can be built into the wall, particularly a semi-slant wall. A small alcove may have built-in bookcases, and an unused doorway with shelves has provided an attractive bookcase in many Bucks County homes.

A shelf may have a few books, a piece of pottery, a small radio, or other decorative objects. Be sure to arrange books with regard for their colored bindings.

In providing space for books, remember to have a bookcase, no matter how simple it may be, for the children.

RITZ THEATRE

Although Jimmy Cagney has no children of his own, he seems able to achieve an instant friendship with any youngster he meets. In fact, Jim Cagney is probably known with affection as "Uncle Jimmy" in more Hollywood households than any other uncle-by-adoption.

In "The Oklahoma Kid," showing at the Ritz Theatre, Cagney, as the happy-go-lucky outlaw who is prey to alternate moods of sentimentality and defiance, makes a hit with all dogs, babies, and horses; which, if he were in politics instead of in films, might be sufficient to elect him governor.

GRAND THEATRE

America's most thrilling story came to the screen of the Grand Theatre last night, when Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell" had its Bristol premiere.

Out of the stirring past of this great nation, has emerged this drama of accomplishment that symbolizes the tradition of America. Bell's story is the dramatic romance of one who dreamed and struggled, loved and achieved.

Simple, human and inspiring, the Cosmopolitan production for 20th Century-Fox is a magnificent motion picture that pays homage to Bell's genius and a woman's devotion.

JONES PITCHES "ODDIES" TO 8 TO 4 VICTORY

BRISTOL TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Schedule for Tonight
GRUNDY'S and ROHM & HAAS
(Rohm and Haas field)
Umpire, Morrell; scorer, Juno
Result of last night
Odd Fellows, 8; Rohm & Haas, 4

That "cunny-thumb" outshoot of Milt Jones still baffles the Rohm and Haas team. Continuing his mastery over the 1938 champions, Jones pitched the Odd Fellows to an 8-4 triumph over on Landreth's field.

Jones allowed but five hits which were well scattered and would have earned an easier victory had not his mates committed errors at inopportune moments.

Despite the two miscues committed, Jones' mates did excellent work afield. Cooper at the hot corner made several dazzling stops and his rifle-throw to first nipped several players by close margins. Zeffries did well at short-stop and in left field, Alex Dewas nap stopped a Rohm and Haas rally by attaching himself to Harrison's drive and doubling Massilla at second.

"Reds" Gallagher started for the chemical mixers and lasted but one inning and part of the second. Six runs in the second canto chased him and he was relieved by Holland. The beginning of Gallagher's downfall was his wildness which helped to fill the bases and then Dewsnap's triple which cleaned them.

"Kiss of Death" Woman Is Held Without Bail

barber, accused of aiding Mrs. Carina's flight from Lakewood, N. J., where, according to police, she had fled at the outset of the poison investigation.

"We had our eyes on her very early in the investigation," Detective Sergeant James Kelly told Judge McDewitt, when Mrs. Carina, suspected of having engineered the death of three and possibly four men, was brought into the court room.

Past Week Busy One For Members of Legislature

World's Fair. All arrangements were made by a Committee appointed for that purpose, headed by Lambert Cadwalader, Representative from Montgomery County and a member of the Penna. World's Fair Commission. The party traveled via special train on the Pennsylvania Railroad to the Fair, enjoy the sights of the Eastern review of world progress, witness the Governor dedicate the Penna. Building, be entertained at dinner in the evening, and then return to the Capitol late tonight.

In a more serious view of Capitol affairs, it is interesting to note that the resolution presented by Rep. Thomas B. Stockham, Bucks County, authorizing the Attorney General to make a survey of the Public Utilities of Pennsylvania and other states, has passed both the Senate and the House of Representatives. It is hoped that when the Attorney General makes a report at the next session of the Legislature, the Assembly will have adequate information upon which to base new utility legislation. The Delaware River Canal Bill, sponsored by the Bucks delegates, Representatives Stockham and Yeakel, is progressing rapidly in the Senate, having passed the House, and will soon be laid on the Governor's desk for his signature.

Representative Edwin Winner, Montgomery County member of the House, was selected by the Speaker to act as Speaker pro-tempore during one of this week's session of the House. Mr. Winner, who is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, demonstrated that directing the course of finances in the House is not the only legislative capacity in which he is qualified.

Next week's session of the Assembly promises to be one of great importance. There are quite a few important Bills before both the Senate and the House that have to come out before the end of the Session, and since it is hoped that adjournment will come before the 1st of June, these Bills must be acted upon next week. Consequently, the session next week will be long and productive of results, if the adjournment hopes are to be realized.

get all about yourself, and try to make life more pleasant for others, you will have a true warm-heartedness.

The women and girls were informed that they must have a sense of humor. "If you don't have that, where are you?" they were asked. "The world is changing. We are giving more rein to our sense of humor. We have more time now to give vent to it, and to do the things we want to do. If we have these three things, honesty of purpose, warm-heartedness and a sense of humor, we are going to be worth knowing. People will want to know us. We will enjoy a worth-while popularity."

The Men's Bible Class served the menu which consisted of: Tomato cocktail, Virginia baked ham, French fried potatoes, peas, cole slaw, rolls, ice cream, coffee. Bouquets of mixed flowers adorned the tables, the two on the speakers' table being gifts of Mrs. Frank Lehman in memory of her mother. These were presented to the guest speaker, Mrs. Hall, and to the toastmistress, Miss Black. Favors were clusters of artificial flowers and fern, encased in pink cellophane.

Included in the program were: Blessing, Mrs. James Loefferts; selection, "Queen of the Summer" (Petrie), girls' chorus composed of Mrs. Helen Stout, the Misses Jean and Harriet Stetson, Betty Bewick, Eleanor Black and Dorothy Bingham; group singing, "Little Sir Echo," "God Bless America," "Umbrella Man" and "Alexander's Ragtime Band," with Mrs. M. D. Weagley as pianist; girls' chorus, "I'll See You Again" (Coward); readings, "The Little Peddler" and "Sir Hobster Cook," Mrs. Pauline Eberhard.

Representatives of the numerous organizations present brought greetings and reviewed work of the year. Mrs. Helen Stout mentioned in her report that the highlight of the year for the Senior Christian Endeavor was attendance of 16 members at a Bible conference in Maryland for a three-day period. Mrs. Paul Kropp extended greetings from the Alpha Bible Class, mentioning there are 42 enrolled. The Camp Fire Girls were represented by Miss Dorothy Vetter, who expressed appreciation to the mothers for aid in the girls' work. In poetic manner did Mrs. Frank Lehman, president of the Presbyterian Guild, tell of the aims and accomplishments of that group; and the cheer spread through activities of the Ladies' Bible Class was told of by Mrs. George Bruden. Miss Noma Albright, representing the Junior Christian Endeavor, read a poem
